

It would be a shame for you to do anything that would water down Indiana's telephone privacy law. Before signing up for our no-call list I was constantly annoyed by dozens of calls each night. When the law took effect in January I was rewarded with blissfull peace and quite in my home